How did one couple’s journey reveal an ancient, beautiful story of love and marriage? Ryan Messmore discusses the attempt to live out biblical wisdom in a modern university setting.

7 March, 2017
5-6pm
Christian Heritage College
322 Wecker Road, Carindale

FREE ENTRY/FREE PARKING
Copies available for sale at the event: $27.95

Order your copy: www.connorcourt.com

“Every so often a book comes along that jolts us, commanding attention and inspiring the embrace of goodness, truth and beauty. Ryan Messmore has gifted us with such a book. Read it!”

–Rod Thompson, Former National Principal, Laidlaw College (Auckland) and Minister, Springwood Presbyterian Churches (NSW)
Praise for In Love: The Larger Story of Sex and Marriage

“There is so much more to marriage than meets the eye; our relationships on earth have the potential to help us understand a much larger reality. Ryan Messmore points to this bigger story, and in so doing, he helps us develop a deeper understanding of the gifts of sex and marriage. For college students wrestling with questions about human sexuality and relationships, for couples preparing for marriage, or for any of us wanting to see how our real-life relationships can point to a much deeper spiritual reality, this book is a treasure trove of insight and inspiration.”
-D. Michael Lindsay, President, Gordon College

“Every love story is really an epic waiting to be told. Ryan Messmore shows us how he discovered that epic dimension in the divine. He discovered God’s action in the small details of his relationship with his wife Karin, and their love began to flourish in unexpected ways. This is more than another intellectual conversion story. It’s a romance. It’s theology. It’s the kind of story that changes all kinds of lives for the better.”
-Scott Hahn, professor of theology, Franciscan University of Steubenville

“If love is not forever, what’s forever for? Ryan and Karin’s story shows how our deepest human longing can be made beautiful, fresh, compelling and highly realistic—even in the age of the hook-up culture. In Love is a love story that opens up a brighter prospect for our generation.”
-Os Guinness, author of The Call

“Ryan Messmore brings the ancient Jewish betrothal tradition to life in a way that helps us revitalize modern-day relationships and also understand the larger biblical story. From questioning phrases like ‘fall in love’ to exploring pre-engagement counselling to describing sex as body language, this book helps readers approach their own love stories with intentionality and hope.”
-Kelly Monroe Kullberg, Founder, The Veritas Forum and author of Finding God Beyond Harvard

---

ABOUT THE AUTHOR - Dr Ryan Messmore

Dr Ryan Messmore is the Founder and Executive Director of the Millis Institute, which provides degrees in liberal arts at Christian Heritage College, Brisbane. He previously served as President of Campion College, Sydney.

He was a research fellow at The Heritage Foundation, the largest research and education institution in Washington, DC. His research and writing examined how religious commitments are brought to bear on political life to improve public discourse and strengthen civil society.

His commentary and analysis have appeared in major newspapers such as The Washington Times and The Australian, online venues such as Crosswalk.com and FOXNews.com, and in national magazines such as First Things, Touchstone, and Comment.

Messmore received his bachelor’s degree in public policy and religion from Duke University. He holds master’s degrees in theology and Christian ethics from Duke Divinity School and Cambridge University. He received his doctorate in political theology from Oxford University.

He and his wife, Karin, live with their three kids in Brisbane, where they enjoy traveling, hiking and ballroom dancing.

millis.edu.au (07) 3347 7900
322 Wecker Rd, Carindale QLD 4152 Australia
PO Box 2246 Mansfield BC QLD 4122 Australia